

A correspondent who had better remain anonymous writes:

Michael Wallerstein's letter reminded me of something the Managing Editor of the Spectator said to me about a piece on universities I did for them a few years ago: "Who's Newman?" When I told him, he said "We're an ignorant lot here, you know" but didn't sound very ashamed either.

To return to Home Page click www.edgewaysbooks.com